Amelia

You liked Daddy's race car
You took long naps
Between Mama's lunch and afternoon snacks

Lips like Daddy's
Nose like Mom's
I think you were equal parts
Sweet and strong

Beautiful little fingers, dainty and long
You might have played piano
I would have taught you a song

Mama held you tight, her smile ever near
She spoke soft words of love to your ears
Daddy held you and looked at your toes
He tenderly cradled you, adjusted your bow
We held each other when the nurse came in God held us when the door shut again

Who were you beyond what we could see?
A little girl whose life was meant to be
Short on time, but long on love
You were truly a lovely gift from our God above
